MANAGEMENT POLICY

Given that the central banks took their accommodative steps in the third quarter, political risks eased considerably (e.g. in the trade war, with the inking slated for mid-January of a Phase 1 agreement, and Brexit, with Boris Johnson's electoral victory) and macroeconomic data improved (wage improvement in the US, better macro surveys, particularly in Germany), which set the stage for equity markets to enjoy their traditional year-end rally. The easing of risk sent yields up slightly, as evidenced by the climb in the Bund yield back up to -0.18%. On a micro level, there were just two primary issues: Ocado and Akka Technologies. We only took part in the Akka Technologies issue. Primary market volumes were very low in 2019, with a mere €17 billion issued and €27 billion falling due. Our new year wish is for a livelier primary market. The fund has a delta of 41 compared to 33 for the index.
